

WINTER PREVIEW

2 Nets Revamp Lineups

While Hollywood writers walk the picket lines, networks are scrambling to put together their mid-season schedules. CBS will bring back Jericho on Tuesdays at 10/9c, starting February 12. "I'm thrilled about the time slot after Big Brother," says Jericho exec producer Carol Barbee. "We're two of the only shows with new content." Here's some other winter fare:

- Law & Order TV's longest-running crime series celebrates its 18th season with guest-star appearances by Lara Flynn Boyle, January Jones and others. Premiere January 2, NBC
- Law & Order: Criminal Intent NBC will borrow 10 episodes of the spin-off from USA Network's fall lineup. Premiere January 9, NBC
- The New Adventures of Old Christine Picketing diehard Julia Louis-Dreyfus returns to her Emmy-winning role. Premiere January 28, CBS
- The Captain In this new half-hour comedy, Chris Klein and Jeffrey Tambor live in a fabled Hollywood building. Premiere January 28, CBS
- Big Brother New strangers move into a camera-filled house to compete in the first nonsummer season. Premiere February 12, CBS
- Medium Patricia Arquette returns to her old Monday slot in a new lineup that includes American Gladiators. Premiere January 7, NBC
- Terminator: The Sarah Connor Chronicles The thriller picks up where "Terminator 2" left off. Premiere January 13, Fox
- The Moment of Truth Contestants strap themselves to a lie detector to win big bucks. Premiere January 23, Fox
- One Tree Hill The gang flashes forward four years after graduating high school at the end of Season 4. Premiere January 8, The CW

Dexter's parent company, CBS, might broadcast an edited version of the hit Showtime series later this winter. "There are some shows on that network that we think would work well," CBS chief executive Leslie Moonves said. Now, that's a killer instinct.

Skeet Ulrich and Ashley Scott (above) return to CBS with Jericho; Julia Louis-Dreyfus (left, center) is new again in Old Christine