

style

FASHION

Summer Premieres: Casual and Cool

ON THE RED CARPET THIS SUMMER, FASHION IS ALL about dressing for comfort and showing off personal style. Gwyneth Paltrow and Bijou Phillips wore pink summery frocks right out of their own closets to their screenings. Ashton Kutcher just asked his girlfriend what she was wearing and matched it, and Ali Larter ditched a stuffy tuxedo jacket for a simple white tank. "In the summer, everyone has a vacation-y, holiday feel about them," says actor Selma Blair. "It gives you more leeway to wear what's most comfortable." Here are our favorite premiere looks of the season. JENNY RUBINFELD

Ashley Scott and Ashton Kutcher

The Look: West Coast Casual

The Scoop: "I was just trying to match my girl," says Ashton Kutcher of the relaxed, hip ensemble he wore at the premiere of The Score in Los Angeles, to which he brought his new girlfriend, actor Ashley Scott. "I called her up and said, 'What are you wearing, and what color is it?'" To complement his date's brown-toned beaded dress and denim jacket, Kutcher put together Levi's suede pants, a Giorgio Armani black cotton shirt, a vintage leather belt and Armani leather boots, topping it off with a Levi's denim jacket. "When [Scott] told me she was wearing a jean jacket over her dress," he says, "I knew I could get away with being a little more casual." Kutcher was pretty confident the outfit would work, as he had "tested it out" before. "You have to wear it on a date first," he says. "And then, if you get a compliment, you know it looks good."

Hair Flair: "I don't really comb my hair — ever," says Kutcher. This night, however, the actor kept his locks in place with a styling wax by Paul Mitchell. "I don't want it out of control — but I don't want to take care of it," he says. "So I put some stuff in there to hold it, wherever it is."

"I wear whatever I'm comfortable in — and whatever the ladies like."

— ASHTON KUTCHER

Kutcher in a Giorgio Armani shirt and boots, Levi's pants and jacket and a vintage belt at the Los Angeles premiere of The Score

